

KEPT FROM DYING
BY GENERAL'S "PEP"

Marine Officer Sends Twenty-two Miles by Auto for Buttermilk for Sick Man.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—"Marines do not die in bed," marines die on the battlefield," was the dose which cured Private F. F. Ladd when he had been told by the doctor at the Quantico (Va.) Marine Barracks that in fifteen minutes he would be dead of double pneumonia. Brig. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, U. S. M. C., commandant of the station, administered the dose.

Heartened by the words, Ladd expressed a wish for buttermilk. There was none at the station and the nearest point where any was to be had was twenty-two miles away.

Speed regulations were ignored as Gen. Butler called his orderly, told him to get the fastest car at the station, as the General had told the almost dying private to get to the Quantico in fifteen minutes. In record time, the sick man drank about half a gallon and has been getting better ever since.

HARVEY DRY, NOT EMBASSY.

London Paper Announces His Sahara Attitude Is Only Personal.

LONDON, May 23.—Although it is understood that Ambassador Harvey, as the representative of a nation with an Eighteenth Amendment, intends to be a dry American personally, the Daily News was informed, after making inquiries among various attaches that there was no truth in the rumor that he had decided to declare an arid embassy.
